

Packaging Development

Blister and TTS - Patches

The development support for our Pharmaceutical customers/partners consists of:

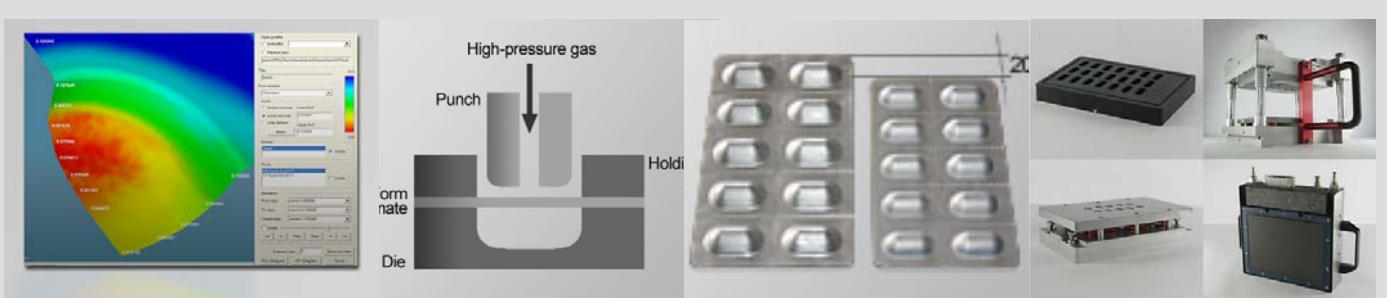

- To meet the customer's development needs for any type of flexible foil application
- Identify risks with clearly specified trials and defined tests and simulation limitations
- Create prototypes
- Create production concepts

Based on our own in house competence for process and technologies, "Know-how" of our strategic partner companies, institutions and specialists, enable us to offer the prospective customer an optimal development environment, which enables us to extend the technological limits of today.

In accordance with the customer's application, we will select the most suitable auxiliary as well as network environment for the particular application.

During the product development project, we will simultaneously work-out the best market entry concept for the batch production for this particular application.

Technologies, Competence, Experience, Net-working, Simulation

Customer benefits:

- Reduced development time
- Relationship net-working
- Process security
- Eliminating risks
- Information

Development Project, Customer relations, Partnerships

